C H E F A M I N A H

Top Hat Catering, Proprietor
Host / Executive Producer “Bringing It To The Table”
Willie Mays Sky Box, Executive Chef
Bay Area Black United Fund’s Health Conductor #53

After graduating from San Francisco’s California Culinary Arts Academy and working as a consultant for various hotels and restaurants throughout the greater Bay Area, at the age of 25, Chef Aminah had a vision to start her own business.

As the proprietor of Top Hat Catering and Events, Chef Aminah handles its all from extravagant Napa Valley weddings, upscale productions for Silicon Valley’s high-tech companies to private intimate affairs. One of her most memorable clients include The Los Angeles Women Theatre Festival’s signature Annual Champagne Gala.

To augment her business line, Chef Aminah, has recently developed a television special called “Bringin’ It To The Table.” On the set of Bringin’ It To The Table,” Chef Aminah captures the true essence of entertainment and fine dining in the private homes of celebrities, athletes and respected dignitaries.

And if you can imagine more time in her life, Chef Aminah’s delectable cuisine can be enjoyed at Willie Mays Sky Box, one of the East Bay’s newest entertainment venues, where she’s the Executive Chef. Chef Aminah holds deep passion for her community. As a nutrition educator for the Alameda County Department of Public Health, Chef Aminah leads workshops for expecting mothers and low-income children and families throughout Alameda County.

On her off time... Chef Aminah spends this special time with her three favorites who keep her grounded: her husband Karim, daughter Milan and son Sultan.
